

Official's Licence Application Information Guide

To officiate at ECSC sanctioned events, Edmonton Combative Sports Bylaw #15594 requires individuals to hold a valid official's licence. The following outlines key details for the official's licence application process:

Officials Licence Overview:

1. Annual Official's Licence fees range from $50.00 to $200.00.
2. One time annual payment with licence valid until the end of the calendar year
3. An Official's Licence application form is provided on the City of Edmonton website (www.edmonton.ca) under Edmonton Sports Commission, 'forms'.
4. All official's licence applications go through a review and approval process before a licence is issued. Applicants are evaluated on a number of factors, included, but not limited too: experience, training, references, skills, attitude and teamwork
5. An individual can hold more than one officials position with the ECSC; however, they pay for the licence classification with the highest fee
6. Holding an official's licence does not guarantee an official will work a particular event. Selection of officials for events is at the discretion of the Executive Director
