

City of Edmonton's Community Safety and Well-being Task Force

Andre Tinio was born in Wainwright, Alberta and his family was one of the first to move there from the Philippines. He later moved to Edmonton to pursue post-secondary education and he completed a degree in Sociology with a Community Service Learning certificate at the University of Alberta. He later obtained a Bachelor of Social Work from the University of Calgary.

He is a registered social worker who currently coordinates professional development opportunities and professional practice supports for members of the Alberta College of Social Workers. He volunteers as a Child Advocate with the Zebra Child Protection Centre where he provides emotional support and court preparation to families and children accessing the organization's services.
